Y means the product does contain the allergen

T means there may be traces of the allergen in the product as specified by the supplier or due to our cooking method

*Please read our definitions of Y and T and be aware that we serve gluten-containing breads, milk containing foods and we cook eggs in our restaurant. We cannot guarantee that our products are free from these allergens. There may be additional traces of gluten, milk, egg not listed in the matrix below due to the workings of our kitchen. We do not keep peanuts in restaurant. If you have a severe food allergy, please speak to our staff when ordering.

Vegetarian products are cooked on the surface grill. They may come in contact with regular menu items.

We take care in removing bones from our fillets, however there is still a tiny chance of finding one. Please take care with children.
